Professional Summary

I'm a frontend developer with experience of building clean, fast, and accessible web apps. I'm currently part of the founding team at FinnAI, where I've been leading the UI architecture using React, TypeScript, and Tailwind. We've made our first launch, and there's still a lot more in the pipeline. I'm super passionate about creating interfaces that are both beautiful and high-performing, and I enjoy collaborating with diverse teams to bring real ideas to life. I'm also getting more into backend development to become a stronger all-around developer. Looking for full-time roles where good design, clean code, and thoughtful UX really matter.

Beyond Coding

When I'm not coding, I'm probably crocheting, baking banana bread, reading five books at once, or watching anime. I love long walks, cozy cafés, and all things dark mode. Also a fan of animals and decorating (especially for my pet's space).
